

DOCKPRO Services opens its doors

Local company brings world-class solutions to our shores

By N. GOWER TODAY

The team from DOCKPRO are ready to provide you with a custom solution

DOCKPRO has recently opened at its doors to business at the new Eden Plaza, bringing with it a host of world class solutions for the local yachting and boating industry. The company specialises in dry storage systems for both recreational and commercial vessels (from jet-skis to 100ft super-yachts) and also provides custom jetties, pontoons and turnkey marina projects, as well as additional products to the marine industry. "Our main two products are the Candock and Seapen docking solutions, but we also offer additional products for the boating industry such as batteries, invertors, smart chargers as well as mooring and rigging lines among other things," says Pene Vogt, the regional manager for DOCKPRO in Seychelles.

At the core of the DOCKPRO offerings is their sole distributorship (in South Africa and Seychelles) for the Candock range of products. The Candock range of docking solutions is the innovative, durable and environmentally friendly answer for any business or individual looking for a mooring/docking solution. Furthermore as the systems are modular, they can be applied to any scenario and as the website (www.candock.com) says they "can be configured according to your imagination."

Carrying a lifetime guarantee as well as a dedicated installation team in Seychelles, the Candock range of modular, floating mooring solutions offer clients in the country a value for money option that is enhanced by the versatility of the modular design and the many countless configurations imaginable. Products and applications include jet-slides, docks and jetty's, gangways, floating swimming areas, helipads, and much more.

DOCKPRO also offers additional products for yachting and boating enthusiasts

For bigger boats looking for a dry-docking solution similar to the Candock jet-slide product, DOCKPRO offers the Seapen range. The Seapen dry-docking solution can accommodate vessels up to 30 metres, and unlike a lifting system, it keeps your vessel dry stored at water level taking the hassle out of dry docking. As you will be keeping your vessel out of the water when not in use, you will never have to anti-foul again and will be saving a lot of money on maintenance costs as well as keeping your vessel in pristine condition, adding to its resale value.

"What is important to us at DOCKPRO is that the products that we supply are all premium quality. We import from Canada and Australia, and we have ensured that all our brands are long life products and what we are bringing to our customers in Seychelles is the best that they could get from anywhere," assures Rob Clarke Managing director of DOCKPRO Seychelles and South Africa.

To contact DOCKPRO call 434 6767, visit their store at Shop 12 on the ground floor of Eden Plaza, email info@dockpro.sc or log on to www.dockpro.sc

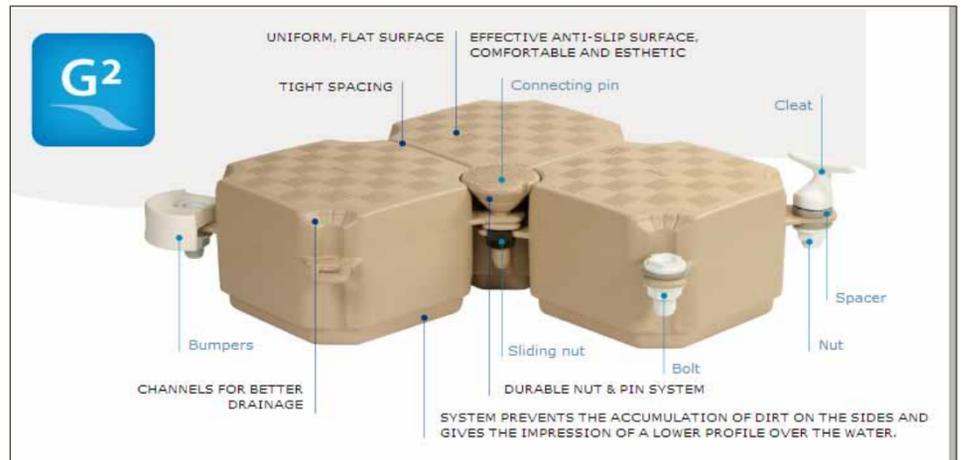

The Seapen dry-docking solution is customisable for any size or vessel type

The applications for the Candock system are endless

The Candock Jetslides are a popular dry-docking solution

The Candock system is guaranteed for life

Visit DOCKPRO at Eden Plaza for expert advice

Whatever your purpose, the durable and environmentally friendly Candock system offers you a solution